

Conf411 is the personal and interactive conference program for your iPhone, iPod Touch, and iPad. Are you attending a conference and is it included in our listing? Then you can import the conference program free of charge and use it right away, wherever you are. Searching the program based on authors, institutions, keywords, and plain text is very easy and allows you to create your personal program in no-time. Selecting your favorite keywords even generates a recommended personal program for you. Use the Grid-view and the map of the venue to always know which presentation to see in which room, at any time. Give scores and comments to presentations, and use them as the starting point for your work after the conference. With the Conf411 each conference experience will be much more effective than ever before!

Are you organizing a conference yourself? Good news: you can have your participants benefit from the Conf411! Contact us at info@mirasmart.com